GERMANS MUST CONFESS DEFEAT, SAYS FRENCHMAN

If They Do Not Confess Realization Will Be Forced Upon Them by Allied Armies, Says Commissioner Tardieu.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Washington, Nov. 2.—In answering terms of armistice to be submitted by the allies and the United States, Germans "must say whether they confess they are beaten," Andre Tardieu, French high commissioner to the United States, declared in a statement tonight.

"Should they confess it," said Commissioner Tardieu, "the war will end and through acceptance of our conditions, should they not, we shall enforce that acceptance by means of a last resort, the outcome of which can not be doubtful."

The armistice being framed by the supreme war council at Versailles, M. Tardieu said, "will include everything it ought to include."

"All questions will be stated with necessary clearness," he said. "In order to state them in that way, no better position, in the opinion of our government, could have been found than the one created for the allies by the diplomatic correspondence of the last three weeks."

American troops, said M. Tardieu, who returned this week from France and from a visit to the western front, have brought to the understanding of Germany "entirely destroyed by our resistance, realization that their downfall was unavoidable and would be speedy."

From July 18 till November 1, our successes on every front have been uninterrupted and decisive," he continued. "The armistice is signed with the Bulgarians, and with the Turks, Austria is asking for it; Germany begs for it. From the military and political standpoint, our situation is excellent."

"On the military side, you know all about the 400,000 prisoners we have taken and the territory we have reconquered but I wish to bring out two points that have been sufficiently emphasized as yet:

"First—We have henceforth in reserve more divisions than the enemy and the decision of the battles belongs to the reserves."

"Second—The German army, roughly dealt with by Foch, every day for three months and a half, cannot reorganize even by shortening its front, and it is already being steadily weakened by deficiency in munitions and numbers."

"Thus our diplomatic position has completed the work of our armies by compelling our adversaries to acknowledge what the president so aptly called 'military supremacy of the allies.'"

Ready to Fight It Out.
"The frame of mind of allied troops may be expressed in one word: they are ready to fight till victory be complete."

"They are pleased that every guarantee having been taken against German ruse and deceit, no chance has been neglected of insuring victory of right."

"In short, everything which statesmanship could have done in order to hasten the decision has been done and well done. All that is needed is to go on."

"Two weeks ago I was with your soldiers, by a bond of perfect brotherhood united to their French and English comrades with whom, since March last, they have, night and day, been fighting. One single army on one single front. This has been the secret of our victory."

"This unity is the most precious of our possessions. Let us eagerly hold to it in view of the conclusion of peace. Let us hold to it for the material and moral reconstruction of a bleeding world."

KAISER EXPECTED TO ABDICATE BUT NOT WILLINGLY

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Paris, Nov. 2.—In heavy type the Temps today prints the following under a Geneva date:

"The abdication of William II may be considered now as an accomplished fact. Official publication is delayed for an opportune moment."

Paris, Nov. 2.—Emperor William is persisting in his refusal to abdicate, according to advices received here. He took refuge at German grand headquarters immediately after the meeting of the war cabinet at which the question of his abdication was raised, says a dispatch to Le Journal from Zurich.

The obstinacy with which William Hohenzollern is clinging to the throne is making a bad impression in Berlin political circles, the correspondent indicates. It is reported that in an attempt to save the crown he took the head of a cabal gotten up by the military party against the government, but that the latter was too solidly established. Any plot which aims at a military dictatorship has no chance of success, the message declares. It appears that the emperor now is refusing to take any notice of the acts of the government.

Everything is represented as depending upon the attitude the great general staff may adopt.

The socialist Vorwarts importance the emperor to prove his courage by abdicating, as an immense majority of the people are against him. The Frankfurt Gazette and the Munich Neuesten Nachrichten express themselves similarly.

London, Nov. 2.—The Bavarian press has notified Berlin that the Bavarian royal family claims the throne in the event of Emperor William's abdication, according to the socialist Leipzig Volks Zeitung, which is quoted in a Hague dispatch to the Daily Mail.
